We Brought It On Ourselves

The embarrassed and perilous position in which we find ourselves today in Berlin should occasion no surprise whatever among Americans. We brought it on ourselves.

The Russians, who now are seeking to freeze us out of Berlin, are there themselves only because we permitted them to enter. But the story goes far back before that.

The root of our present trouble stems, of course, from the policy this government pursued toward the Soviet government from the time we entered the war. That is, if our relations toward Moscow can be dignified by the application of the term "policy". There has been an amazing patchwork of misguided, chaotic, oversoft, shortsighted relations which at few times have deserved the name "policy."

In the face of all the evidence that anyone should have needed that Russia never intended to be our friend, we soft-heartedly set out to make the masters of the Kremlin our friends. Characteristically, we tried to do that by giving them things — including some that were not ours to give.

Although they themselves had warned that they planned world revolution and, subsequently, world domination, we followed the polite fiction that they were our comrades-in-arms, fighting, too, for world freedom and world democracy.

We poured our billions of dollars worth of lend-lease weapons and goods into Russia and saved her from certain defeat. The Soviet government never once made any public acknowledgment of this assistance until Admiral Standley demanded that the facts be revealed to the Russian people. Then, and then only,

CROPS AND RANGES SAVED BY DOWNPOUR

One of the most beneficial rainfalls in recent years occured here Monday night and early Tuesday morning.

L. W. Smith, local government observer, said that the official recording here was 1.05 inches up to 8 a. m. and since that time some rain has fallen.

Reports to The Daily Herald said that much heavier precipitation fell in the western and northern sections of the county. It was said that in the Buckholts area that around 2 to 3 inches was believed to represent the fall there.

The fall was light in the eastern sections of the county in the tomato belt where rain is so badly needed. In the northern and northeast sections good rains were reported.

Good rains also fell in the Val Verge areas it was reported by S. P. Dolahite who was here to attend a meeting of the Democratic Executive Committee.

A strong north wind was blowing at day break and cooler temperatures were in prospect for the remainder of the day and on Wednesday. It was forecast that it would be around 45 degrees here Tuesday night with warmer weather Wednesday.

Rain was still a prospect. The fall was most beneficial saving crops and ranges but much more is needed.

VALTER T. WHITE IS ASKING RE-ELECTION

Valter T. White, assessor and collector of taxes for Milam county, has announced his candidacy for re-election to that office subject to the Democratic nominating primary on Saturday, July 24.

Mr. White, a war veteran and former sheriff of this county, was elected assessor and collector of taxes upon his return from the United States Army and is now serving his first term in the office and his candidacy now is for a second term.

In his first term Mr. White has established an enviable record of efficient service and was receiving the praise of many friends over the county for the manner in which he has served during his first term. He is being paid the unusual compliment of best wishes and a race for re-election without opposition. Friends say he is entitled to the office again not only because of the traditional second term but because he has done a good job and kept his pledges to the people.

In the army Mr. White served with distinction in the Military Intelligence division. He is a native of Maysfield and was elected sheriff in 1940, serving one term and was re-elected and served only 4 days of his second term when he was called to military duty. He was discharged in November of 1945. He served with the rank of Sergeant.

In making his announcement he said: "I am grateful to the people for the co-operation they have given me and for the honor of serving them in this important office. I shall continue to give them my best every day I am their assessor and collector."

Mr. White both by experience, education and training, is well qualified for this office and the people will be glad to know he is to run again.

LITTLE COLONY FIGHTS FLOOD TIDES HERE

A small industrious colony of Beavers have made some headway on Little River near Cameron, but are finding flood waters in the stream a discouraging thing.

W. T. Whitaker said Tuesday that he had witnessed a large Beaver splashing about in the stream.

The colony was first noted about 12 years ago near the Gib Terry farm on Little River where they had made some headway with timber. Since the habits of the Beaver is to dam small water courses it was not likely they could do much with the river but timber along the stream is so inviting the little colony here is making a determined effort.

Mr. Whittaker did not know of the presence of Beaver on the stream and was considerably surprised to see one swimming. The Beaver has a large flat tail which is a mighty propeller in the water and they go very fast.

Some 12 years ago J. B. White who has done considerable research in Indian mounds and village sites, found traces of Beaver activity on Little River. Gib Terry knows more about the colony than any other man.

The full grown Beaver is from two to two and a half feet long, exclusive of tail and has soft, thick hair of reddish brown color and valuable as a fur. The Beaver is a member of the Rodent family and is widely known in northern and western sections of North America.

If the colony here could establish activities on a small stream they might become numerous. It is doubtful if they can master the river.

COMMITTEEMEN WILL HOLD CONVENTIONS

The Democrats in Milam county set in motion here Tuesday plans for holding the Precinct Conventions on May 1.

The Precinct conventions will name delegates to the County Convention to be held on Tuesday, May 4 at which time delegates will be named to the State Convention to be held in Brownwood.

The Executive Committee in session at 10 a. m. Tuesday named the Committeemen to hold these conventions or to arrange for them. In all there are 48 voting precincts in the county and each precinct will be expected to name a slate of delegates to the county convention.

Four vacancies on the committee were filled as follows: W. W. Powell at Ad Hall to succeed Louis Faichtinger who resigned. H. H. Pruitt at Milano to succeed H. F. Paschall who is a candidate for Legislature. Jim Bartlett at Tracy to succeed the late Walter Baggett. Wayne W. Clark, Jr., at San Gabriel to succeed F. J. Stalcup who has moved out of the county.

Although the Committee passed no resolutions it was agreed that because the party faces an inner council fight over policies of the national administration that freedom would be indulged to declare for or against all issues and that the county convention should favor an uninstructed delegation to the state and national conventions.

J. B. White, Chairman of the Committee, presided and will issue instructions next week to the Precinct Chairman regarding the proceedure in holding the precinct conventions.

Mr. and Mrs. A. M. Horstmann attended the funeral of Mrs. W. J. Ridout in Marfa two weeks ago and were accompanied home by their little grand daughter, Virginia Dell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Allen Horstmann.

SECURITY LOAN NEEDS ORGANIZATION HERE

The Security Loan quota for Milam County is $140,000 and the period of the drive is from April 1 to July 16.

The Treasury Department recently announced the loan with bonds being offered as was the case during the late war.

Milam county has no organization and something may be done at once to encourage a concerted movement to induce people to buy bonds in greater amounts than the customary amounts now being bought.

Dan Tyson who was head of the 6th, 7th and 8th War Loan drives in Milam county, now County Judge, has resigned from the position he held with the Treasury Department due to press of duties at the court house an dthe bond machinery is without a head.

A treasury representaive is due here soon to inquire into prospects of reviving the organization, one responsible for the sale of more than ten million dollars in bonds in a single war loan period.

The current loan is for Security and in addition is a fight on inflation.

FRANK G. HAAS DIED HERE EARLY MONDAY

Mr. Haas had been a resident of the Buckholts community for the past 35 years and had been a farmer all his active life.

Funeral services were to be held Tuesday, April 13 at 3 p. m. from Hope Lutheran Church in Buckholts with Rev. John Striepe, Lutheran minister officiating. Interment will be made in the Buckholts cemetery.

The body will remain at the Green Funeral Home until 9 a. m. Tuesday morning at which time it will be conveyed to the family residence in Buckholts where it will remain until the funeral time on Tuesday.

SPECTACULAR PROGRAM SPURS AIR INTEREST

A major triumph in entertainment was scored here Sunday with the Air Show at Municipal Airport.

Mayor A. W. CcCullin, master of ceremonies, said it was one of the most satisfactory entertainment gestures in the history of the city and was happy to welcome a long list of distinguished guests.

The entire program was reeled off without accident and all numbers advertised were shown except the 3 man parachute jump and a stout wind sweeping the field rendered this impossible.

Some 60 airplanes were parked on the field, two of them Pepsi-Cola planes. In addition there were the bigger craft from the army and the fighter formation came in from Randolph Field to circle the field while the show was in progress.

$20.00 Subscribed To Poison Fund To Catch Fish Killers

Vince Lesikar who owns land on Elm Creek became the first citizen to subscribe to the reward fund for those who place poison in water to kill fish.

Mr. Lesikar pledged $10.00 to the reward fund and to this The Daily Herald added $10.00 and so we have $20.00 pledged. Anyone wishing to become liable for any portion of reward money may send in their names. No money will be collected unless convictions are had.

The big question now is how much poison does an offender have to dump in the creek to commit a felony. If he is charged with a misdemeanor he can go join the Marines and they can't extradite him to civil Jurisdiction.

The Herald mentioned the reward fund because it was asked to do so.

Hit By Train He Suffers Slight Injuries Tuesday

Arnold W. Kirk of Milano was knocked down by a Santa Fe Passenger train early Tuesday morning of this week as he stood waiting to board the train to his home.

He was standing too near the rails when the train came in. He suffered only slight injury and was taken to St. Edwards Hospital for treatment but was discharged later and went to his home at Milano.

Kirk sustained a bruised shoulder and face wounds.

THEY POISONED FISH

CHARGES ARE FILED AGAINST THREE HERE

Three young men have been charged with pollution of public stream and the killing of fish but only one is under arrest and he was reported to have an attack of mumps.

Two of the men are still at large and have not been placed under arrest. Sheriff Carl C. Black was not in his office Monday morning at the time The Herald sought additional information on this case.

County Attorney Bill Morrison said that he had written the complaints and they are on file in County Court records.

The men charged are Harold Stanislaw, Harold Kennedy and J. D. McGoldrick. Whether the latter two were ever actually under arrest was not clear since they were missing Friday and have not been seen since.

One report, not verified, is that one of the missing men is in the Marine Corps and took his companion back with him for enlistment.

Stanislaw was said to be at home ill. He had made no statement, and no progress had been made in the case beyond the filing of charges so far as the County Attorney's office is concerned. Sheriff Black was thought to be trying to get the men back to face the charges.

Enlistments in the armed services was at one time impossible if any kind of charges were pending against the man seeking enlistment. The young men could conceivably escape prosecution if their enlistment could engender an extenuating semtimentality. This remains to be seen.

In the meantime the men reported under arrest were dispersed to parts unknown and the case is merely pending. The men are charged in connection with the killing of fish in Elm Creek with poison.

YOEMEN DOMINATE THE 26-A SPORTS HORIZON

By RICHARD VANN
The Temple Telegram

"Stop Cameron" will be the motto of six other District 26-A track and literary teams when the 1948 District 26-A track and field meet takes place in Cameron April 9 and 10.

The Yoemen have already tucked away the football and basketball championships for the year, and seem likely to take off the baseball crown as well. In short, if the Yoemen are to be prevented from making a clean sweep of this year's district events, the preventing will have to be done at the alwayt tough district meet.

Last year the Yoemen won the district meet after a tussle with Belton and Franklin.

Hearne's high-flying Eagles are being boomed as the team to beat this year, since they have the outstanding collection of tracksters and enough literary talent to keep up their point totals in this wing.

Since the district meet includes such varied events as playground ball and number sense, tennis and ready writing, a powerful well-rounded program is necessary for victory. Only a combination of good athletes and good literary performers is usually required for victory.

Hence the favored status of the Eagles. They have a fine track team, including strong entries in almost every event. In addition, they can be expected to get their share of points in the literary field.

Cameron's defending champion Yoemen have a great home-field advantage in that they can put up entries for all events without hauling them some 50 miles to compete. They also have an intensive program which assures entries in almost everything.

As a result they will probably take home a tremendous amount of places, but will not be favored to crack Belton's first-place stranglehold in literary events.

The Yoemen also boast a good track squad, paced by the great sprint work of T. J. O'Neill and the hurdle supremacy of Lawrence Michalka. All in all, they should be battling Hearne point for point throughout the meet.

Belton's Tigers will have to uncork some cinder magic to go with its literary prowess if they expect to win this year's championship. The Tigers have eight defending district champions out of the ten who won first places in literary events last year, and will probably sport a healthy load in this department.

Their track hopes rest largely on a traditionally good mile relay team and skilled distance runners.

Franklin's surprising Tigers, who can usually be depended on to do the unexpected, ought to kick up their heels quite a bit, particulary in the tennis and literary events. Their track squad, however, remains an unknown quantity.

Georgetown, Taylor and Rosebud may field some individaul winners, but probably won't have the team strength necessary for victory.

Myra Jean Vaughn of Bastrop spent the week end in the home of her mother, Mrs. Eula Vaughn of Cameron. She is manager of Western union at Bastrop.

Mrs. Lucy Clifton will leave this week for Velasco where she will visit her daughter and family, Mrs. Margaret Bell. Mrs. Bell will undergo surgery there next week.

TROOP UNITS BEING MOVED TO CAPITAL

BERLIN, April 13—Alied intelligence reports said today the Russians were increasing their occupation forces in Germany which entirely surround the city of Berlin.

The increases were said to be mostly MVD (secret police) units concerned with executing new Russian border and traffic controls. German press reports spoke also of new infantry units moved into the Soviet zone.

Several months ago informed estimates placed Soviet troop strength in Germany at more than 300,000, about three times the American total. Present Soviet strength is unknown. American troops in Berlin number about 5,500.

Meanwhile the Western powers were seeking means of relaxing or getting around the Soviet squeeze against them in Berlin, as evidenced in restrictions on traffic and communications between the city and western Germany.

Rail movements out of Berlin remained suspended because of a Soviet demand that all passengers and cargo pass Soviet inspection.

The Americans started an air freight service to move out household goods of families returning to the United States or being transferred to the American occupation zone.

American officials also tried to persuade the Russians to resume transport of German parcel post from Berlin to western Germany.

There are 106 railroad carloads of such packages awaiting shipment. If it is not moved soon Berlin postoffices will have to stop accepting such mail.

The Americans also protested as a violation of written agreements the Soviet demand for withdrawal of a five-man U. S. signal corps team of the lines.

from Weimar. The Russians refused to renew zonal passes for the team, which works on telegraph and telephone lines linking Allied forces with those in western Germany. The Russians say they want to take care

The British, who have a similar 13-man team at Magdeburg in the Soviet zone, announced they would withdraw.

We Must Not Neglect Our Local Governments

By DON BOWEN

Improvement in Government methods is always something to work for, but devout reformers still placing the wartime emphasis upon our national Government, have overlooked greener fields for imurovement at lower levels of American political life. County government is a case in point.

Neglect of county government is not new. Just after World War I, one of the nation's leading political scientists gloomily characterized county-government administration in the subtiling of a book he had written as "The Dark Continent of American Politics."

Actually, larger segments of our political life than we usually realize are completely enmeshed in county governmental activities. Every state in the union, with the exception of Rhode Island, has county governments with power to perform such vital services as law enforcement, education, public welfare, health, roads and highways, and the very key to democratic control—administration of the election system. While overshadowed in some of the New England states by so-called "town" government, the county is of first-rate importance in the rest of the country, and in some sections of the South is the only form of local government. These county governments —3050 of them in all—spend slightly less than $1,700,000,000 annually.

Paradoxically, the bulk of the county's difficulty arises from the fact that, although the county was originated to serve the needs of the people directly, most Americans feel closer to their state or the national Government than to their county government.

One reason for this indifference is the excessive number of county areas. Established for the most part in pre-Revolutionary days, the boundaries of county government follow the highly decentralized needs of people limited by horse-and-buggy transportation. Although admittedly unnecessary in 1948, the original demarcation remains. Several states such as Georgia, Illinois, Kansas, Missouri, North Carolina and Virginia have 100 or more active county governments, while Texas is unable to get along with less than 254.

Closely related to this problem of the excessive number of county units is the fact that counties vary greatly in size. The smallest politically active county, Arlington, Virginia, covers less than twenty-five square miles, while San Bernardino County, in California, has an area of more than 20,000 square miles—larger than any of our New England states except Maine. From the standpoint of population, differences are even greater. Loving County, Texas, has fewer than 300 inhabitants, while Cook County, Illinois, has a bulging 4,000,000. Such variations in size cannot help but complicate the problem of county administration.

County administration is also handicapped by the legal relationships between county and state. The flexibility which generally makes it possible for a city to frame a charter somewhere in line with its needs does not usually exist for counties. They must accept whatever pattern of government the state legislature draws. The result is that large counties are often forced to scrimp along on a government structure which was outgrown long ago, while small counties are saddled by law with an administrative structure which they do not need and can't afford.

Perhaps the greatest of all deterrents to good county administration, however, is the almost universal lack of centralized administration. The voter is faced with the demoralizing task of voting for a roster of officials so lengthy that he hardly knows the names of all of them, not to mention their qualifications for office. The result is a diffused authority which makes responsible administration difficult. Each officer individually elected may administer his office according to the dictates of his own conscience. In one county the semilegal income of the sheriff from fees, mileage allowances and "profit" from his allowance to feed county prisoners runs as high as $250,000 annually.

The total picture of the rotten underpinning of county government has failed to excite the American public. Without a lively public interest, American county government will remain what it has been for the past two generations—"The Dark Continent of American Politics."

Fish Poisoning In Bosque River Brings Action At Waco

Hundreds of pounds of fish have been poisoned in the last 72 hours in the Bosque River between the Bosqueville bridge and Lake Waco.

Game Wardens were going into action to determine who is guilty of the crime. Rewards have been posted. One farmer is said to have moved livestock away to keep them from drinking the water.

Fish have been poinoned in Elm Creek in Milam county during the past two weeks.

Elda Mae Smith left recently to enter Western Union school at Springfield. She was formerly employed with the Model Cleaners here.

DIPLOMATS SURVIVE REVOLT IN BOGOTA

Secretary of State George C. Marshall was imperiled by rioting that broke out in Bogota but escaped without injury. A member of the diplomatic entourage was slashed with a knife outside the convention hall.

Trouble broke out when Communists resented the killing of their leader. His assassin was mobed and draged through the streets.

Mobs stormed the convention hall where American Diplomats and other representatives were in session. Some 100 people were killed as revolt swept the city which was partially in ruins and swept by fire.

The session will meet early Saturday to determine whether to move the convention to Lima, Peru.

Extra Care Makes It Extra Good

From where I sit ... by Joe Marsh

Now It's Neckties Made of Milk!

Fellow in Andy Botkin's Tavern was boasting about a trick necktie he was wearing made out of a by-product of milk. "Took 33 pounds of milk to make this tie," he says.

Bill Webster was unimpressed. "Personally," he says, "I'd rather have the milk to drink. Just as I wouldn't change one glass of good American beer for a necktie made from thirty barrels of it!"

Yes, modern science being what it is—seems like you can make "anything out of anything" these days. But in the case of milk, well I guess drinking it is still a whole lot better than just wearing it.

Of course there are lots of other ways of abusing goods and beverages--like a fellow who doesn't appreciate good beer enough to drink it slowly and in moderation.

But from where I sit, most people who enjoy a wholesome beverage like beer or ale are moderate —because beer itself is a beverage of moderation.

Rosebud Wants Hiway 77 Route Through The City; Meet Commision

AUSTIN, April 1 — Citizens of Rosebud have filed their formal request with the state highway commission for a change in the proposed routing of U. S. 77 so it will go through the city rather than around it.

A 14-man delegation from Falls county presented the city's case to the commission with J. R. Kilgore, postmaster and Rosebud News publisher, R. E. Souther, chamber of commerce president, and County Judge Fred B. Glass as speakers.

The route proposed by the highway department would by-pass Rosebud, but the city is seeking a change to route the highway through the city on Fifth street.

Kilgore explained to the commission that a mass meeting of townspeople had passed a petition asking the city council to approve a bond election, if necessary, to acquire the necessary right of way. Following that action, the council passed a resolution guaranteeing to the department that such action would be taken.

Members of the delegation in addition to the three speakers were Dr. H. J. Sivepston, J. H. Tarver, Jr., L. L. Dorsett, Lee Roy McAtee, Roy Parcus, J. M. Ligon, Roy Johnson, L. A. Holmes, Edward Peschel, the Rev. Theo A. Binford, and Don Porter, Falls county engineer.

Military authorities in Washington asked the survey, WAA said.

During the past few days, the Dallas WAA area office has been requested to freeze all disposals at Pantex ordinance, Amarillo; Bluebonnet ordnance, McGregor; Gulf ordnance, West Point, Miss., and Arkansas ordnance, Jacksonville, Ark.

model planes all but stole the show as literally thousands of people lined the field on the west side where the park site is located.

The Airport Cafe was swamped with customers, selling 131 cases of pop in 4 hours, it was said by Mrs. Roy Vaughan.

P. W. Davis, veteran advocate of the field, estimated crowd from 7 to 8 thousand people and said the show was a big success.

Perhaps the most absorbing display was the hospital plane.

Crowds of thousands watched as the plane from the school of Aviation Medicine, Randolph Field, landed to particiapte in the air show. Thousands were conducted through the air hospital ward by Lt. George Anne Russell, flight nurse, and Sgt. Anderson and Sgt. Harris, air evacuation technicians.

The spacious cabin of the plane is transformed into a modern hospital ward equipped with all the medical facilities necessary to give adaquate care to the sick, wounded and injured military patient. Here can be seen plasma, blood oxygen, penicillin and comfortable air mattress stretchers, all designed for the welfare and comfort of the American soldier.

During World War II approximately 2000 patients per day were evacuated by air from combat zones. The death rate in flight has been just five thousandths of one per cent and when we consider the great number of seriously wounded men evacuated this record establishes an evacuation of patients as a recognized and highly eficient method of bringing our patients quickly to the great general hospitals in the zone of the interior where highly skilled and efficient care awaits them. It is a matter of record that patients were evacuated from the front line medical units while still under anaesthetic.

The pilot of the plane was 1st Lt. Ben Allen, the Co-Pilot 1st Lt. L. Garner. The Flight surgeon was Lt. Col. Ken Fletcher.

Accompanying the hospital plane were Flight Student Lt. Georgeanne Russell and Flight Nurse Capt. Susan M. Whelan.

COMPLETE RETURNS IN AND HE TOPS GENERAL

Harold E. Stassen, former Governor of Minnesota, won at least 19 of the 27 delegates from Wisconsin in the primary Tuesday and it appeared that he might make a clean sweep of the state.

Early broadcasts said that General Douglas MacArthur had swept the state leaving a smattering to Stassen. Final returns upset the early prediction.

General Douglas MacArthur was a poor second and Governor Thomas E. Dewey of New York received only a smatter of the vote.

Stassen is now firmly established as one of the major contenders for the Republican nomination for the Presidency. It was conceded that General MacArthur would now be out of the running and was a possibility only as a dark horse convention compromise.

Governor Dewey has the strong backing of the party in New York.

11 WEEKS CAMPAIGN IS TREASURY PLAN

The Treasury Department announced Thursday that a Security Loan to sell more saving bonds to the people of the United States will get under way April 15 and will continue for 11 weeks through June 30.

Nathan Adams, chairman of the advisory committee for the state of Texas, issued an appeal. He said "Millions of volunteers are engaged in this task and although it may lack the hurried urgency of war, this undertaking is vital to the nation because economic maladjustment can be costly and as disastrous as war."

The Security loan is launched against a background of inflation. It will help stabilize the economy, cut down spending sprees and build a better foundation for future prosperity.

Scarcity of goods renders buying opportunities poor. U. S. Bonds bought with surplus money is security at its best.

The legislation, which also requires registration of all men between 18 and 30, was prepared by the house armed services committee. Chairman Andrews (R-NY) said hearings will begin Monday.

The senate armed services committee continued its hearings on the draft and universal military training but Chairman Gurney (R-SD) said demands for a bigger air force delayed things so much a bill might not be ready for a week or so.

LOOMS AS POTENTIAL REPUBLICAN NOMINEE

Harold Stassen, former governor of Minnesota, captured a majority of the electoral votes in Nebraska in the primary election on Tuesday and now looms as a possible nominee for the nomination for President on the Republican ticket.

Thomas E. Dewey, governor of New York, also running in the Nebraska primary, was second, with Stassen far out in the lead, especially in the farm country.

Senator Robert Taft of Ohio was a bad third in the race and General Douglas MacArthur was hardly in the counting.

Dewey was certain to cut down the Stassen lead in Omaha. More complete returns early Wednesday made it certain that Stassen would be the choice of the people of Nebraska by a substantial margin over Dewey.

Gonzales Will Vote On Bond Issues For Rural Road Building

GONZALES, April 7— Two big bond issue elections will face the voters of Gonzales County this month and next.

In one, qualified voters of Road District 1-A will be asked to approve issuance of $301,000 in bonds for construction of farm-to-market roads. The county commissioners court this week set the date of the election for May 6.

The other is a city election in which the voters will be asked to approve $175,000 for a program of municipal improvements. Originally set for April 15, the date was changed by the city council this week to April 22.

A petition signed by several hundred property owners led the commissioners court to call the road bond election. Specifically asked for are: (1) A road to the Lavaca County line near Moulton; (2) a connecting road from the Moulton Road to Dilworth, and (3) a road from Gonzales to United States 90 at Harwood.

The petition had asked for $225,000 for this work. Mat. D. Hodges, district engineer of the state highway department, told the commissioners this week that $243,000 would be needed.

To this sum was added the $58,000 indebtedness of old Road District 1, absorbed last month when the new district was created. Most of this indebtedness is covered by sinking funds.

The city bond election asks for $50,000 for street paving; $50,000 for purchase of land for a recreation site near the Guadalupe River, and $75,000 for a new fire station.

1948 CONSERVATION PROGRAM IMPORTANT

"What does my soil need most?", should be the question asked by each farmer in setting up a conservation program for 1948, says W. A. Atkinson, Chairman of the Milam County Agricultural Conservation Committee.

The Chairman points out that conservation of soil and water usually requires more than just a single practice such as the application of lime or phosphate. The use of such practices should be a means to an end and not an end in itself, he explains. In other words, the most important conservation need of the farm should be considered first and all practices carried out should be directed toward meeting that need. He calls attention to advice given by A. J. "Al" Loveland, head of the Agricultural Conservation Programs Branch of the U. S. Department of Agriculture in which farmers and committeemen are urged to make the best possible use of every dollar spent for conservation under the ACR Program.

"With a reduced budget this year we are going to have to make every dollar do double duty if we get the job done that has to be done to save our soil."

According to the chairman that means doing first the conservation work most urgently needed. There isn't enough to aid in doing all that should be done, so, "first things first."

Every effort must be made to fit the conservation practices to needs of the individual farm, he explains. Often a combination of practices is best. It may be that slopes must be seeded to grass and legumes. Lime and superphosphate may be needed to get a better growth of the grass and legumes. Contour farming may be necessary on some of the land. Other parts of the farm may need drainage "The needs of the farm should be the guide," says the chairman.

Reward Money Here Suggested On Fish Poisoning Offenses

Several local sportsmen, men who resent deeply the poisoning of fish in Elm Creek waters and recent violations of the game and fish laws on Little River, have suggested to The Herald that a reward list be authorized here.

This matter, if handled in the same manner as the recent $500 reward standing for any person convicted of putting out poison killing dogs and cats, no money would be taken in hand. The plan was to establish a list of reliable people who would agree to pay stipulated amounts in the event of arrests and conviction.

The Herald would undertake to record the pledges and if interested citizens wish to list their names they may do so but no money will be collected unless convictions are had.

MILLER SPRINGS DAM FUNDS NOT CERTAIN

WASHINGTON, April 7— Army engineers said here today that if money is approved by congress, actual construction on Miller Springs dam could start right after July 1.

According to an army spokesman, planning for the project "is now advancing rapidly."

No date has yet been set for the meeting of the full senate appropriations committee on the bill and further action cannot be predicted by the calendar.

Rep. W. R. Poage again pointed out today that while Miller Springs has cleared its greatest hurdle by getting approval of the senate appropriations sub-committee, it still has several difficult ones to achieve.

The full committee must consider the bill, then the senate, then the bill must go to the house where, because of such senate amendments as Miller Springs, the house will refuse to concur. Then the bill must go to conference.

Two difficulties face the bill in conference: The rising cost of the national defense effort which always pull down public works bills and the current economy mindedness of leading Republicans.

However, Poage started out today to confer with important congressmen. He is hopeful and will make every effort to see the measure successfully through the joint session.

Senator Tom Connally secured passage of the million dollar Miller Springs appropriation out of the sub-committee of the Senate and may be successful in getting it through the main committee and the Senate. Representative Poage lost his fight in the house to get the appropriation but may have a chance to get it approved now since the Senate seems favorable.

Complaints Here Over Dynamiting or Poison Of Elm Creek Fish

Hundreds of fish are dead along Elm Creek in the Marak community it was disclosed here Wednesday morning by Frank Stanislaw who was anxious that this matter be brought to the attention of the Game Warden.

Officers here have been told of the offense but it was not known whether the game warden had been told about the matter, but it was presumed all possible was being done.

This is the second complaint that has been made on killing fish in Elm Creek. Mr. Stanislaw said he believed the fish have been poisoned. Some of the fish especially channel cat and buffalo will, he said, weigh as much as 10 pounds. Thousands of perch and small bass are dead.

Similar complaints were made last year and in addition river fishermen complained and a game warden was assigned to this territory. Whether anything was ever done we have no way to tell but no doubt all complaints were investigated. What is needed now is action and prosecution for the offense of poisoning or dynamiting fish is one of the gravest crimes against our fish and game laws.

The following women of the Presbyterian church of Cameron attended a Presbyterian church meeting in Taylor Tuesday and Wednesday of this week: Mrs. James L. Coleman, Mrs. John Muse, Mrs. Dan Tyson, Mrs. Graham Gillis, Mrs. Carl Black and Miss Gladys Martin.

Drunk Driver Also Hits Snag On Charge Of Exposure Here

Defaecating without benefit of high cotton and drunk driving resulted in the arrest of a young New Baden man here Saturday and two fines were assessed, one in county and the other in justice court.

Leroy Nichelsen was charged with indecent exposure, the offense having occured in the street near the schools during the track and field meets here Saturday. Officers nabbed the primitive Texan and found he had taken on too much drink and therefore was fined $50 for drunk diving.

Did the young man mistake his surroundings for a wilderness and thereby wound our civic pride, or has drunk driving got around to the point of a floor show as an added attraction?

Cameron Wins From Hearne 3 to 2; Bob Wilkerson Pitches

Cameron Yoemen took a hard fought game Thursday from the Hearne Eagles 3 to 2 behind the pitching of Bob Wilkerson who let the birds down with 5 scattered hits.

The Yoemen got 7 hits. Carl Meanger for Hearne held the heavy hitting Yoemen down. Hearne made a run in the first inning and Cameron came back in the second and tied the score. In the third inning Hearne got another run and Cameron came right back with 2 more and so the game ended as clutch work on the mound stifled the big bats on both teams.

Cameron will open the season for district title against Belton here Tuesday, April 13.

Everything but the squeal? ...Not quite

Utilization of livestock by-products is important to all farmers and ranchers. Of the total dollars received by Swift & Company for lambs, 15% to 25% comes from by-products. Cattle by-products amount to 10% to 20%. With hogs it is 2% to 5%. When bidding on live animals, Swift & Company's buyers estimate the yield and grade of edible meat. In their estimate they figure, too, the value of all by-products, including hides and wool.

Livestock by-products have greatly increased the value of your meat animals. Since earliest times, man has used hides and wool to make clothing. But only in the past half-century has research found the present great variety of uses for by-products. Fats, and lanolin from wool, are the base of many cosmetics, healing creams and beauty aids. Photographic film is coated with a gelatin compound. Other uses of gelatin and glues are almost endless. Animal fats are the main raw material of toilet soaps.

Life has been lengthened for people with diabetes, anemia and other diseases. They are helped by drugs such as insulin, liver extract, pepsin, adrenalin. These are all made from the glands of livestock. But for the painstaking care of meat packers, these glands would go to waste. This happened during the wartime "black market" in meats, and the supply of insulin ran low.

With the growth of meat-packing plants, the war on waste began in earnest. Science found new ways to use by-products of your animals. Bristles make brushes. Bones make knife handles. Hair makes upholstery padding. Bones, blood and scraps go into animal and poultry feeds. Yes, we find use for every valuable part of cattle, hogs, and lambs.

Each new use for by-products adds value to livestock . . . and directly benefits producers.

Speaking of By-Products . . . Here's a movie about 'em—just the film to complete your community or school program: a 16mm. sound, color cartoon, "BY-PRODUCTS." It runs 10 minutes—and tells the story of livestock by-products and their uses. You may also want to show "MEAT BUYING CUSTOMS," another 10-minute cartoon. For a history of the livestock-meat-packing industry, you'll like "LIVESTOCK AND MEAT"—49 minutes, black and white. "A NATION'S MEAT" is a shorter version—30 minutes—full of information on the American meat supply. Then there is "COWS AND CHICKENS . . . USA," a story of diversified farming—the dairy and poultry business in a nutshell. Please give us at least a month's advance notice to handle bookings. We can ship by express or parcel post. Only cost to you is payment of express or postage one way. A 16mm. sound projector is required. Order from Agricultural Research Dept., Swift & Company, Chicago 9, Illinois.

Phenothiazine Stands Up

by Dr. I. B. Boughton

Texas Substation No. 14, Sonora, Texas

Ample proof that sheep roundworms can be controlled in West Texas by free-choice feeding of phenothiazine-salt mixture, with no danger of poisoning, is revealed in a 4-year test at this station.

The test was made to find the answers to two specific questions: 1) Whether phenothiazine-salt mixture, fed to sheep free choice, would control stomach and other roundworm infections. 2) Whether long time use of such a mixture would be poisonous to sheep.

Answering both questions, it was effective and it was not toxic.

Sheep used in the test were fairly heavily infested at the start, showing an average of 1180 worm eggs per gram of manure in ewes and an average of 1700 in lambs. The count decreased steadily to 60 for ewes and 30 for lambs by the fourth year. The worm eggs in the manure did not hatch, an important point since the failure to hatch shows that the infestation of the range was being reduced.

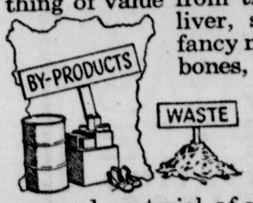
But don't throw away the drench gun. In 8 Minnesota flocks, where sheep were given a phenothiazine drench and had free access to phenothiazine-salt mixture, the lambs weighed 93 to 104 pounds. They dressed out 47.4 to 48.9%; and over 90% of the carcasses graded AA.

On the other hand, in flocks where the sheep were given the phenothiazine-salt mixture but were not drenched, the lambs weighed 87-99 pounds; they dressed out 46.6 to 47.4%; and 11% to 40% graded AA.

A Steer is NOT all Beef

Let's take a look at this steer. It weighs 1,000 lbs. It's not all steak. In fact, only a little more than half is salable beef. Hanging in Swift's cooling room, our steer has become two sides of beef. Together they weigh 543 lbs. What happened to the rest?

Modern meat packers save everything of value from the steer—heart, tongue, liver, sweetbreads and other fancy meats. Hides for leather; bones, blood and scraps for animal feeds. Glands for medicines. All told, 161 lbs. of the steer is saved in by-products.



But 296 lbs. is shrinkage and material of no value. Only the meat and by-products can be sold.

What happens to the money the meat packer receives? It is used to buy livestock and other raw materials. It meets the expenses of slaughtering, dressing, refrigerating, transporting and selling. It pays rent, insurance, taxes—all the costs of doing business. The amount remaining after all of these expenses are paid is the meat packer's profit. Over a period of years, Swift & Company's profit has averaged a fraction of a cent a pound on the products we sell.

That's the explanation of the "spread" between livestock prices and wholesale meat prices.

We All Want the Top Dollar

You, as a producer of livestock, want to get the best price for your animals—"the top dollar." As a salesman for Swift & Company, selling the products which result from these animals, I, too, want to get the top dollar.

The meat packer's buyer has to judge the grade of the animals and estimate how they will yield. He then makes his bids in competition with buyers for many meat packers and other commercial slaughterers. To get the animals, he has to offer going prices. Otherwise he just won't get them; somebody else will. And that "going price" which he must pay depends on the number of animals on the market and the demand for them.

After Swift & Company has made the animals which it has purchased into meat and by-products, we must sell them, again in stiff competition. If we don't offer meat at the going price, retail meat dealers will buy from somebody else who does. This competition in both buying and selling is so keen that we have to operate on a margin of profit which averages but a fraction of a cent per pound of product handled.

In our business, as in yours, it takes hard work and good management to come out with money ahead on a year's operation. Our efficiency in selling meat and by-products results in important economies and savings. Only through such savings can we earn our profit—and help increase the value of your livestock.

the bare account was printed in the Soviet newspapers.

We broke our necks to give the Russians our latest improved weapons. They had one superior weapon themselves, an artillery piece. Never did they let an American see one of those guns, let alone give us the plans so that we could build some for ourselves.

At the conferences of the Allied heads of state we made concessions to Russia we never should have made.

Instead of demanding that the Russians restore the independence of Lithuania, Latvia and Estonia, we gave assent to the rape of those countries through our silence. Then it was easy to keep conceding, a little here, a little there.

So the Communists were convinced we were fools.

We sold Poland down the river. We sold Yugoslavia down the river.

We ordered our forces to stop and let the Russians enter Berlin and Prague.

That is only a part of the story. It is only scratching the surface.

Then, we disarmed and fatuously hoped for the best.

The chickens are coming home to roost.—Houston Chronicle.

The High Cost of John L. Lewis

Some day the members of the United Mine Workers are going to take a piece of paper and a pencil to determine just what John L. Lewis has cost them. The result will be astonishing.

In the last decade the miners have been on strike for a combined period of more than six months at the behest of John L. Lewis.

The fine assessed against the United Mine Workers under the contempt of court proceedings brought last year amounted to $700,000. This came out of the dues which the miners have paid to their national organization.

A conservative estimate is that the total in wages lost because of strikes amounts to more than $60,000,000.

This has been a net loss to the miners. The United Mine Workers union does not pay strike benefits to its members. When miners have been out for three weeks, as they have been in the present instance, the period of idleness comes out of their savings. These in many localities cannot have been large since the strike last year, for many mines have been able to operate at only a reduced rate because of the local car shortage.

The cost of John L. Lewis comes high, therefore, in hunger and other forms of deprivation caused by enforced idleness.

Lewis has plans to compensate his followers, or to make them think that they are being compensated. It is reported that in the new contract discussions which the operators, which are not involved in the present shutdown of the mines, Lewis will ask for a 35-hour portal to portal work week, vacation pay of $200 to $250 against the current $100 and a 40-cents-a-ton royalty for a welfare and pension fund.

These issues must be settled by June 30 when the existing contract expires. If all of them were to be granted by the employers, it would mean an increase in the national coal bill of $200,000,000 or more. The price ultimately would be much higher, as the increased cost of coal must be translated into higher costs for every article into the production of which coal enters.

It is, therefore, obvious that the cost of maintaining Lewis in his soft job and as a national problem comes high. The workers have obtained increased wages and benefits under his direction, but they have more than paid for what they have gotten. They and their families have done without to pay for Lewis' triumphs. It is doubtful whether they have, as individuals, even got back in increased income what they have lost in the periods of idle time.

Industry and the American people have been subjected not only to a monetary loss but to greater loss in self-respect because of Lewis. Measured by any standared, either that of the miners' welfare or the strength of the national economy, Lewis is not worth a fraction of the price that we have had to pay. It is time that all concerned found that out and put an end to his dictatorial arrogance.—Houston Chronicle.

U S GETS NEW SHOVE AROUND IN AUSTRIA

New war threats flared Thursday with the United States getting another shove-around in Austria. There the Russians are demanding removal of a radio range station at Tullin air field near Vienna.

The Reds says they do not have the troops to guard it. The American authority says that is a lie because the station has never been guarded and is operated by remote control.

Berlin continued to be the center of the trouble with the Reds coming back hard with an embargo on mail. They claim that the British were responsible for the air crash that took the lives of 14 people.

France may set up a German state opposed to communists in the allied zones.

The United States, Britain and Fighter escorts for planes going into the German capital was hinted Thursday. Meanwhile in Washington a draft bill was being prepared and President Truman was represented as ready to ask for some 100 million dollars to build ships for water transport.

A movement may have been launched to draft industry along with young men. Why not? Well for one thing there would be no profits and without profits patriotism lags considerably.

Two More Indicate Support of Reward On Fish Killers

J. R. Poole, with The Herald plant in Cameron and a land owner on Elm Creek, joined the number who have signified they want to see something done about those who poison fish.

Mr. Poole has pledged $5 in the event of arrest and conviction of person guilty of poisoning fish. This makes the total reward money now $25. Others no doubt will want to be identified with the reward fund. No money is collected. The purpose is to establish a responsible list of persons who feel a sense of outrage over such offenses and who think the officials should enfore the laws.

Dr. and Mrs. E. R. Zelner are spending a few days this week in Ft. Worth. Dr. Zelner is attending a State Dental convention there.

Navarro Districts Plan Bonds For Roads

CORSICANA, April 7 — Several communities in the western section of Navarro County are considering the voting of bonds for the construction of farm-to-market roads, J. N. George, Blooming Grove, county commissioner, stated here Tuesday. These sections desire to pay for 75 per cent of the construction cost, and the remainder and maintenance costs to be borne by the State.

The three communities wanting the roads are Cryer Creek, Drane and Jester.

Cryer Creek wants a 4-mile road to Barry, connecting with Highway 22.

Barry wants a 7-mile road to Drane, where it will divide and continue a mile to the Corsicana 9-foot slab and then to Highway 31 via Bryan school, a distance of 2½ miles. Jester community is figuring on a 3 or 4 mile road to Highway 31.

HENRY G. LEHMAN—

the duties of the office to the best of my ability, keeping in mind how different types of legislation or laws would affect the people of our district", Lehman said. "The experience that you have allowed me to get and the knowledge I have acquired as your representative, I feel, has played a big part in promoting the welfare of the people of this district and the state at large".

Pointing to some of the many beneficial laws which he has helped enact, Lehman referred to the heavy increase in old age pension payments which has been brought about during his service. When he was first elected Milam county only received for old age assistance $152,308.00. Last year, (1947) Milam county received $551,984.80, this year, (1948) Milam county will receive approximately $597,180.00, which is an increase of almost four times as much as that of 1937. Approximately 100% of this amount is spent in Milam County trade territories.

"It can be easily seen" Lehman pointed out, "that the total amount of pension money that we are now receiving is tremendously increased. I have done much work with my colleagues in making this possible, and I, assure you I shall strive ever harder to see that our old age citizens get adequate care and aid."

The field of education has a staunch friends in Representative Lehman, his friends declare. When he was elected, money from the state of Milam County Schools amounted to $252,611.00. Last year (1947) money from the state to Milam County schools amounted to $382,186.00. The figures for (1948) are not complete at this time but on an estimate Milam County will receive approximately $466,653.00 an increase of $214,042.50. In 1937 each qualified school child in Milam County received only $19.00 from the state, today (1948) each qualified school child receives $55.00, this is an increase of almost three times over (1937).

As this district's representative, Lehman has fought for laws that have boosted state aid to schools to the highest level in history. Lehman asserted that he would continue to work for the benefit of the Texas educational system and its teachers. In order that we may have a school system second to none .

Having traveled over nearly every highway, farm road and mail route in this district, Lehman said that he has voted consistently for their improvements. During the last session of the Legislature he voted for and help pass through the House of Representatives a bill that would have provided approximately thirty million dollars each year, one half, or fifteen million dollars to be spent on Farm-To-Market Roads, the other half to be spent on schools each year. The bill was passed through the House of Representatives but was not acted upon in the Senate.

"Despite the fact this law was not enacted", Lehman explained, "It was a move in the right direction and for the right purpose". He helped pass House Bill 21 which will give Milam County additional revenue for roads. "As your representative I pledge you I will continue to work uncesasingly until our district will get a good Farm-To-Market Road building program, as well as good highways. During the last session I favored and voted for all bills that would have brought about better public roads."

Also during the last legislative session Lehman supported every proposal to aid veterans of both World Wars. He said that it had always been his policy as our representative to vote for bills to help those who so valiantly have served in all branches of the armed forces.

Realizing that farming is the basis of the nation's economic structure, Lehman has voted for a sound, progressive soil conservation program. He also voted for higher appropriations to enlarge and expand the agricultural facilities of Texas A&M College. "Lehman said that he would continue his efforts to see that Texas farming and ranching interests are improved."

Lehman pointed out that the state had an indebtedness of about ten million dollars when he first took office while today the state has about fifty million dollars cash on hand.

"I do not claim to have accomplished this as a personal honor," Lehman said, "but I joined with representatives and senators from all parts of Texas to bring our state out of the red, and I think we should keep it out".

Lehman said, "I have worked and voted against the past Re-Districting bills and shall continue until a bill is brought up that is fair. Under the past bills the large cities would benefit by gaining more representatives. In order to get them, the rural counties would be consolidated. This district would be cut out; Lee County would be given to Fayette County, and Burleson County would be given to Washington County. The results would be that the large cities would control all legislation. Our rural sections have been able to hold their own, but under past re-districting bills it would be impossible. The laws that rural sections might be interested in would be defeated unless it satisfied the city groups; such as Houston, Dallas, San Antonio, and other large cities."

"I am deeply grateful for the fine support which the voters of this district have always given me," Lehman said. "I have done my best to reward you with long hours of study and service as your representative. I shall do my best to see each of you personally before election day, and I assure you that your interest is mine, that your problems are mine and that your suggestions are always welcome. As before, your vote and support will be sincerely appreciated as will the opportunity to continue as your public servant.

PACIFIC VETERANS OF MARINE CORPS HERE

Two Marine Corps Veterans of the Pacific have arrived in Cameron and will be here until the 19th of April, 1948, with their colorful scarlet and gold mobile unit for the purpose of acquainting the public with the peacetime Marine Corps. Highlighting their exhibits for public showing is their photographic display of Marine foreign duty stations and posts.

The Non-Commissioned Officers in Charge of the Marine unit are Master Sergeant George L. McConnell, a veteran of nine years in the Corps, and Sergeant Robert E. W. Garlson.

The two Sergeants have many items of free literature about the Marine Corps available and are prepared to answer any questions about the adventurous mode of life afforded the peacetime globe-trotting Leathernecks. The Sergeants have been authorized to interview and screen prospective candidates for enlistment into the Corps.

Enlistment applications are being accepted from unmarried men, 17 to 29 years of age.

Any Cameron men tentatively accepted by the two Marines visitors will be sent at government expense to San Antonio District Headquarters for complete physical and mental examination and further screening.

After final acceptance, men are sworn in and given rail transportation to San Diego, California to begin recruit training, the initial phase of thier new Marine life.

After their visit in Cameron, the two Marines will depart for their next stop, Taylor, Texas.

Two More Join Up With Reward Fund

Two more names have been added to the reward fund for arrest and conviction of persons guilty of poisoning fish.

Tom Layne, first to report the current poisoning of fish on Elm Creek wants to pledge $5 in the event officers care to catch and prosecute those guilty of such a crime.

W. T. Whitaker said he wanted to pledge $1.00 and would give five if the reward included catching those who have nets and fish boxes in Little River.

Poisoning fish, dynamiting fish, nets and fish boxes all are violations of the law. Milam county is off limits for law enforcement. There are no game wardens stationed in this county.

Many Attend Open House Held By Guard Unit Here Wednesday

The open house which Cameron's National Guard unit held at its armory on Wednesday evening to commemorate Army Day was well attended, Captain Rudolph Michalka reported today.

Many of the visitors expressed surprise at the large amount of equipment the battery posseses. The 105 mm. howitzer, machine-guns and bazooka received the most interest in the field range and next the mess equipment on display.

A dance at the Country Club later was attended mostly by Guardsmen, their families and friends. Ladies of the Veterans of Foreign Wars Auxiliary served refreshments during the evening.
